

Class 8 English assignment 2nd week

A Fact File on Ethnic People in Bangladesh

There are a lot of ethnic people in Bangladesh, majority of whom live in Chattagram Division. The ethnic people have their own religion, culture and lifestyles. As regards religion, most of ethnic people are Buddhist and the rest are Hindus, Christians and so on. Apart from their religions, their primitive and identical lifestyles can be understood by their rituals and rites. Most of ethnic families are mother-led meaning that the families are matriarchal. The women are more hard-working than men. Besides, women are the source of income in an ethnic family.

They are extremely self-dependent. They produce their own food, make their own clothing and so on. They have their own language to communicate. Each ethnic group has a distinctive dress, dialect, rites and rituals. Ethnic people are good at hunting. Women especially are skilled in handcraft. They are very much cordial and hospitable.

There are a good number of ethnic groups in Bangladesh. Among many, Chakma is the largest tribal group. After that, Marma is the second largest ethnic group in Bangladesh. Apart from the above-mentioned, there are Tripura tribe, Khumi tribe, Mro tribe, Lusai tribe, Khyang tribe and so on. There are cultural diversities among different ethnic groups. One ethnic group is different from another. They are peace-loving, hard-working people in Bangladesh. They have recently advanced in education as well. The ethnic people in Bangladesh are extremely fascinating.

(Written by: BD Exam Aid Team)